INTRODUCTION

Hi, I'm Matthew Evan Eichler and I have a freelancing company here in Amsterdam, Netherlands called Aventine Solutions. In the Netherlands, this is known as a "ZZP".

I've been working as a Software Developer for decades now and have been focusing on DevOps with Cloud Infrastructure the last 5 years.

It occurred to me maybe could be the time to start sharing some of my experiences with some short presentations.

I thought a simple place to start would be to compare Best Practices in Amazon and Google Cloud including some Code Samples ... plus maybe touch on some Agile Concepts to help out others in the DevOps Role.

Also, I was thinking of showing some simple ways to estimate and compare costs of the two platforms before you get too deeply involved in something new.

Do you think these are good ideas?

Would this help you?

Are you looking to level up your skills in the DevOps Role? ... or perhaps you have frustrations you want to address?

Are other influencers already doing this and you think this is a waste of time?
